SAN DONATO IN POGGIO (Province of Florence) REF. 406

This meticulously kept villa and its location provide the unique opportunity to experience Tuscan feeling. Situated on over 11 hectares of olive groves, vineyards, pastures and woods, the villa assures complete privacy and outstanding views over the Tuscan hills with its cypresses, hamlets and country houses.

The beautifully restored stone country home is located half way between the art cities of Florence and Siena. You can relax and slow down under the wisteria-covered loggia or on the covered porch. The pool and the pool area are surrounded by flowers, lawn and old terracotta pots.

The estate produces excellent organic wines and olive oil

A nice and enriching experience for families are the farm animals at the property. Hiking paths in the woods lead to the animals and around the property: the hens enjoy a humane lifestyle and provide our guest with fresh eggs. The Mangalitsa pigs from Hungary have been imported because their meat (even their fat) is highly regarded in the culinary world and has no cholesterol. The pigs are forest foragers and have a large fenced area of our woodland where they can roam freely. The owners supplement what they find with a special blend of corn, grain and beans.

The most recent additions to the family of farm animals are two Amiatino donkeys - a local Tuscan breed of donkey and they love treats of carrots and apples.

The villa is an excellent base for exploring the villages in Chianti, the famous medieval cities and the Tuscan art cities.
